

Annexation of Texas

Weymouth. June 29.

Wednesday night.

Dear Deborah

I write on this to save paper, & I write at all more to ensure an answer by the 1st ^{at} night than for any other reason. Ma still holds in her purpose of coming Sat & bringing Henry. As soon as he comes measures will have to be taken with regard to clothing him, for he is nearly destitute. Yesterday Mrs Ford, Mary Ann & James came over from Dedham in a chaise & passed the day. They were very well & appeared to enjoy their visit. Eliza hath. has opened a correspondence with Nat South and & writes herself down as Abolitionist to all intents & purposes. - Aunt Priscilla was bled on Monday, but does not feel much better for it. The Dr thought bleeding all she needed. but thinks it will take some time for her to get well. Grandma is as usual & the rest rather poorly. I some think of coming in town a week from to day which will be just a week before our Anniversary meeting. As I shall probably stay a week in town when I come, I have thought of coming so as to take in the 4th of July. What do you think of it? When I come I shall go out to Brookline & out to Cambridge. I think it would be well to get Mo's bonnet so that she can wear it out. The enclosed I have written for the Liberator if you & Maria see no objection to its publication. I wish to correct what I think is a great mistake in Whittier's reasoning.

If you can, get the last Re-order for it contains a scandalous account of the manner in which the A. S. Memorial was received by the first Ecclesiastical body to which it was submitted. It turned my indignation so much that I could not help writing a few lines additional.

ADDRESS
OF THE BOSTON FEMALE ANTI-SLAVERY SOCIETY TO THE WOMEN OF NEW ENGLAND.

The true descendants of the pilgrims cannot fail to cherish in their inmost souls, the principles of Christian Freedom:— the children of the far-sighted founders of New England cannot fail to perceive that while, under any pretence, one human being is held in slavery in a nation of which they form a part, their own freedom is in peril. Every dictate, therefore, of Christian philanthropy and self preservation, is, to strive for the extinction of slavery.

Who have power to abolish it in the District of Columbia, and to prevent its further progress by forbidding the introduction of slaveholding Texas? Our northern senators and representatives, who form a majority in Congress.— Why do they not use this power? Because they are not sure that it would meet the wishes of their constituents. Who are their constituents? You: women of the North! You, with your husbands and brethren, are their constituents. Remember that the representation of our country is based on the numbers of the population, irrespective of sex. Let us not forget that our representatives are now borne down by southern violence, and require our utmost aid to enable them to act according to their consciences. What then will be their condition under the increase of violence, and the multiplication of arrogant demands, which must grow out of such an accession of power to the South, as the annexation of a slaveholding territory large enough to constitute five slave-states, each as large as Kentucky? In vain is it said, this is nothing to us. Have we not a COUNTRY, and is she not dishonored before all the nations, by her inconsistency and shameless violation of faith, in refusing for 30 years, to acknowledge the independence of Hayti with its 900,000 of inhabitants, and its extensive commercial relations, while she sends a vile and refuse population of only 30,000 to take possession of Texas—aids them with arms and troops to revolt against Mexico, acknowledges them to be an independent people—and is preparing at an extra session of Congress, to annex them to herself, that she may increase her profits in SLAVES? Is it nothing to us that Mexico and the Indian tribes should unite against our country's aggressions?—that our husbands and our sons should be drafted from our household-floors, to encounter the storm of fire and blood that will sweep along the south-western border? Is it nothing to us if the north,—called on by those in Congress, who will then have the power and the disposition to use it, at once to defend them and to OBEY, should dissolve the national connexion? Is it nothing to us, if, amid the wreck of States—United no more, brother should battle against brother and friend against friend? Our brothers—our friends? And is it indeed nothing to us that the scourged and trampled negro, A SLAVE NO MORE, should take advantage of the crisis to make his being felt, and rise to the shedding of blood on every southern threshold!

However ignorant, thoughtless, or negligent others may be —and though we may eventually be obliged to mourn over their negligence in desolation and ashes,—let us free our souls from self-reproach: let it sink deep into our hearts, that the unutterable destruction that sooner or later awaits our country, unless slavery be abolished, is as certain as that God judges and punishes nations, in this world, according to their evil deeds.

While this truth is warm in our souls, let us reflect that conduct is the test of sincerity, and that we are upholding slavery in the most effectual manner, if we keep silence when an opportunity offers of lifting up our voices against it.
Sustaining, as we do, all the relations of womanhood, we cannot but be shocked at a system which debases woman to a brute, by making her an article of property, keeping her in ignorance and heathenism, buying, selling, scourging and dividing her from children and friends at will. But if we are not enough shocked at its existence to pray both secretly and publicly, of God and man for its extinction, we are partakers of the sin; and may God forgive our hypocrisy, and humanize our hearts!

Let us now resolve to cast aside all the temptations of indolence and selfishness;—to deem it a dignifying privilege to redeem our leisure hours from frivolity, by laboring with unremitting constancy to unite the hearts and voices of others with our own, for the immediate abolition of all slavery over which Congress possesses jurisdiction. Let us count it but a small thing to toil thus voluntarily through the dusty summer, knowing there are in our country, hundreds of thousands among those who are scourged to unrequited toil, who would 'count it joy enough to perish, being free.' We are not idly spending our strength for nought. It is for the honor of our country! for the welfare of our children, and their remotest posterity; that their inheritance of civil and religious liberty be not vilely cast away! It is for millions of our enslaved countrymen, and for the bondman of all future generations! It is for the fundamental principles of Christianity, wherein lie our salvation.

One single hour devoted to the consideration of this subject, will show its mighty tendencies through all time—will demonstrate that the present moment is giving its coloring to the far eternity!

In view of this crisis, unparalleled in the world's moral existence, let us go up, in the spirit, into the councils of the nation, and ask in the name of God and the human race for the freedom of the 7000 in the District of Columbia, and for a strenuous effort to avert the wrath gathering against that day of wrath which shall witness the annexation of Texas.

Let every woman into whose hands this page falls, IN-STANTLY, (for the work must be done before the extra September session,) prepare four rolls of paper, and attach one to each of the annexed forms of petition; and with pen and ink-horn in hand, and armed with affectionate, but unconquerable determination, go from door to door 'among her own people,' that every one of them may have an opportunity of affixing her name to these four memorials:—and the benediction of God and good men, and the grateful intercessions of the enslaved and desolate, be round about every such tried friend of humanity, in its extremest need!

By order of the Society,

MARY S. PARKER, President.

MARIA WESTON CHAPMAN, Sec'y.

N. B. Please to forward the petitions by mail (if no private opportunity offers,) in an envelope open at one end, ad-
